

For 8 years I have been working as a translator for various clients and in different subjects. In particular I was heavily involved in a long-term project with Translate Media as well as Tony Alamo Christian Center, managing the translation of more than 5,000 Christian-related documents. Am able to translate 6000 words in a day.

My broad experience in many aspects of the translation process has taught me the importance of continual research and I enjoy the challenge that this profession offers.

My rates are 0.05 USD per source word for translation and 0.03 USD for proofreading, though am open to negotiations.
