

Services we offer

Our focus is on working with psychology-related content, including APA-style papers, academic publications, research journals, neuropsychological assessments, psychometric tests, anamneses, psychological evaluations, DSM-based reports (psychiatry, psychotherapy, psychopharmacology, and so forth). We are also specialised in the transcreation as well as localisation of apps, software and websites.

Translation

All our translation services are offered from English to German and German to English.

Editing

We are familiar with all types of editing and have specialised in structural and stylistic editing.

Proofreading

We proofread your content and make sure it is ready to be published.

Consulting

We have the expertise and experience to look at your project from a psychological perspective.

We encourage prospective business partners to present their project, as every project has unique needs that are satisfied best through a process of communication and close cooperation to discover whether its needs match the skill set we offer. This process will create a friendly and fruitful working relationship.