Professional Profile:

Eager to help students of all ages enjoy the process of learning a new language. Very motivational and not afraid of using new methods in the classroom to keep the lessons interesting, challenging and uplifting. Able to use various methods of teaching such as task based learning, language through text learning, test-teach-test etc. where needed. Able to make individual assessments of students based on observation in the classroom. Willing to study/do extracurricular work, such as doing translations, classes at home, marketing work, computer fixing, excursions etc. Relaxed and disciplined team-player.

- Dedicated to creating dynamic learning environment.
- Dedicated to using the teacher as a tool, not a speaker. Minimizing teacher talking time, maximizing student centered learning.

Education, Honors, and Certifications:

Political Science (not finished)

U.V.A, Amsterdam, 2000

Provisional Certifications

CELTA certificate, B.L.T.C., Oxford House, Amsterdam. 2012

Key Qualifications:

Teaching English one-to-one, to children, and to groups of (young) adults in Madrid and in Amsterdam.

I have a CELTA (Certificate in English Language Teaching for Adults) from International House Amsterdam, where I have taught the following groups:

- Beginners/Pre-intermediate/Post-intermediate.

I can teach conversational, academic and business English and Dutch and I can help with exam preparation such as IELTS.

I can teach conversational and beginner to intermediate Spanish, as I have lived and worked in Spain for 10+ years and I speak the language fluently. I am currently studying advanced grammar in order to be able to teach the higher levels.

I can understand and communicate in German on a medium level, not enough to teach the language, though I aspire to speak German fluently when I get the time to seriously study it. I have worked in Germany for a year.
