— PROFESSIONAL PROFILE —

I'm a full-time student in my 9th trimester of civil engineering at the Metropolitan University. Constructing a building is a challenging issue which requires many problems to be solved and much decision to be taken. Maintaining the balance between architectural design, engineering design and interior in general is not an easy task. My purpose is to be able to manage two of the three tasks necessary to create the perfect space and more important the perfect environment for the human being.
