

Jason K. Housley

Japanese – English Translator

2446 E 200 N
Saint Anthony, ID 83445
(208) 932-3664
HousleyJK@elucitrans.com

Education College

M.A. Linguistics, June 2012
Brigham Young University

- Received “Outstanding Linguistics Project” award 2013 for Master’s Project developing a translation quality assessment application
- Areas of Study: Computational Linguistics, Machine Learning, Translation

B.A. Japanese, December 2009
Brigham Young University

- Minors: Latin and Linguistics

Selected Coursework

Ling490: Advanced Translation Theory and Practice – translated several short texts
Ling480: Problems in Translation – computer assisted translation tools and techniques

Experience Freelance Translation

Apex Translation Service (Los Angeles, California)

- Translation of Japanese business cards
- Transcription of Japanese audio
- Asian Language identification

Pro-Translating (Miami, Florida)

- Translation of market survey responses

Japan In-Country Experience

August 2012 – Current

Japanese Exchange and Teaching Program

- Rented an apartment in Nara City
- Experienced working in a Japanese office

May 2009 – August 2009

English Teaching Internship

- Home stay in Yokohama

May 2008 – June 2008

Japan Study Abroad

- Home stay in Yokohama and Kyoto

Other

Programming skills including: Java, Python, Django, HTML5, CSS, jQuery

A key contributor to Linport (see linport.org)

Developer for the American Translators Association computer-based proficiency test
