

I am a native Malaysian. I speak, write and read fluently in Malay and English as well as my native language, Kadazan. I may not have much experience in doing translation jobs as far as documentation is concerned, but I have actually done it throughout the last 10 years in my current employment, producing job aids and training materials in dual languages, English and Malay. Thus, if you want a quality product delivered to you within the timeframe you required, give me the benefits of the doubt and I will deliver.
